

THE EXHIBITION

"To me there is no other Choice" – Raoul Wallenberg 1912-2012, presents the story of Sweden's Raoul Wallenberg and his role in saving tens of thousands of Hungarian Jews from the Holocaust during World War II. It's a story that has inspired the world.

Toronto Reference Library

January 12 – 23, 2013

Free admission

"To me there's no other choice"

Raoul Wallenberg 1912–2012

PERSPECTIVES ON WALLENBERG: PANEL DISCUSSION

Tuesday, January 15, 2013 at 7 P.M. This is a free public event

Toronto Reference Library | The Appel Salon, second floor
789 Yonge Street, Toronto (TTC Bloor-Yonge Station)

Armed only with his bravery and moral courage, Raoul Wallenberg was a Swedish national who saved tens of thousands of Jews from the Holocaust during WWII.

Wallenberg's example raises issues about moral courage and individual responsibility. About acting instead of just standing by in the face of evil and oppression. About helping and protecting the persecuted. Resistance makes oppressors hesitate. Still one person can make a difference.

www.swedishembassy.ca

The panel includes:

Brian Palmer, Sweden
Social anthropologist at Uppsala University in civic courage and engagement.

Irwin Cotler, Canada
Law Professor and Member of Canadian Parliament.
Former Minister of Justice.

Sarah Beamish, Canada
President, Executive Committee,
Amnesty International Canada

Lee Ann Fujii, Canada
Political Scientist at University of Toronto lecturing in political violence, genocide, ethnicity and race

Toronto Reference Library, 789 Yonge Street, (TTC Bloor-Yonge Station) | www.torontopubliclibrary.ca

This exhibition was created by the Swedish Institute in partnership with the Living History Forum, and is presented at the Toronto Reference Library.

Valuable assistance has been provided by:

